

Alberta

Freedom To Create. Spirit To Achieve.

Something For Everyone

All types of art all over Alberta in three wildly creative days. Become part of the experience by planning an event in your own community, showcasing your unique talents and celebrating the things that make us distinctly Albertan.

Alberta ArtsDays

Sept 30 - Oct 2 AlbertaArtsDays.ca

Discover Experience Celebrate

IN CELEBRATION OF NATIONAL CULTURE DAYS

Government of Alberta

- Dance
- Theatre
- Photography
- Sculpture
- Aboriginal Arts
- Poetry
- Film
- Pottery
- Painting
- Arts & Crafts
- Quilting
- Culinary Arts
- Music
- Storytelling
- and more

Writers Writing Home

a workshop by Lorne Daniel

Oct. 1, 2011

2:00—4:00pm

Red Deer Public Library

Join poet and non-fiction writer Lorne Daniel for a discussion about the role of place in contemporary creative writing. As writers, we imprint ourselves on the places we inhabit and write about. Those places, in turn, speak back to us and tell about ourselves. Lorne Daniel will lead discussions on home and place in our writing, and read from his own work and that of other writers who have explored our sense of place.

Lorne Daniel has published poetry and non-fiction in about 200 literary magazines, newspapers and magazines. His blog "Writing: Place" explores our connections to place and he also blogs regularly for Life As A Human (lifeasahuman.com) and The Urban Times (theurban.com). His new book of Selected Poems, "Drawing Back to Take a Running Jump," will be published in 2011. He is also completing a book of essays about west central Alberta's oil country.

Please RSVP to the Writers Guild of Alberta

- mail@writersguild.ab.ca

- 780-422-8174

Writers Writing Home

a workshop by Lorne Daniel

